Chapter One

The North Wind and the Sun were disputing which was the stronger, when a traveler came along wrapped in a warm cloak. They agreed that the one who first made the traveler take off his cloak should be considered stronger than the other.

Chapter Two

Then the North Wind blew as hard as he could; but the more he blew the more closely did the traveler fold his cloak around him; and at last the North Wind gave up the attempt.

Chapter Three

Then the Sun shone out warmly, and immediately the traveler took off his cloak. And so the North Wind was obliged to confess that the Sun was stronger of the two.